

Dog Food Recommendations

There are a few web sites that are designed to help make sense of the dog food industry. These sites are made and managed by independent sources (not linked to the manufacturers of dog food).

I believe that it is very important to feed your dog a high quality food and have heard of many cases of dogs having behavioral problems that were solved by switching to a high quality food.

Please look through these web sites to see what is recommended for feeding your dog.

<http://www.dogfoodadvisor.com>

<http://www.dogfoodanalysis.com>

This site has a good description of ingredients in dog food- ones that you should be looking for and ones that you should avoid:

<http://www.petfoodratings.net/welcome.html>

